

RAIL STRIKE CALLED OFF

Tense hours at the Ministry of Labour. Sir Walter Monckton was once again employing all his gift for conciliation to prevent a national strike. Paralysis threatened The railway system.

Sir Brian Robertson was in consultation as Chairman, British Transport Commission. Pressmen were rewarded ~~after~~ <sup>4</sup> ~~hours~~ of waiting when a 3-hour meeting produced ~~ended by producing~~ a basis for speedy settlement.

NUR Secretary, Jim Campbell, on his way back to his secretary ~~Unity House~~, was cautiously optimistic...

Unity House followed the advice and try an early meeting
At Transport Commission headquarters next morning ~~the immediate~~ ~~negotiations~~ ~~was~~ ~~begin~~ ~~to~~ ~~for~~ ~~Brian's~~ ~~relief~~, ~~and~~ ~~everybody~~, the NUR had called the proposed strike. Their delegates and the Transport Commission were negotiating again.
