

If you don't recognise the tap dancer she's the World
Champion tennis player, Little Mo.

On her right leg is the mark of the operation from which she's now recovering. ↑ She's trying it out on the court, ~~and she~~
~~and~~ believes she will be back at Wimbledon in the summer.

Little Mo <sup>dancer of the</sup> ~~broke her~~ leg in a riding accident.

How to launch a jet aircraft without an airfield. America tested a truck-mounted platform, which can operate anywhere in conjunction with a booster bottle - the name they give to a detachable rocket. Without this device the aircraft would need a runway of one-and-a-half-miles, and that would almost rule it out in a mobile war.

"LITTLE MO"           READY TO RESUME TENNIS WARS

Ballet, for a tennis queen! Maureen Connelly, world's greatest woman star, employs the muscular exercise of various dance routines to get into trim. You'll recall her lower right leg was severely injured in a horseback riding accident last summer.....you can see the scar as we focus on her dancing feet. Courageous Maureen feels she's ready to pu on tennis garb again. At 20, she's held every championship here and abroad, and by April, expects to leave for Europe to defend her titles, particularly the Wimbledon crown. Little Mo also expects to take the title of "Mrs". sometime this year, but there'll be more tennis before the wedding bells.... and to those who gave her encouragement during her battle to come back, she says (talk to end)
