

FLASHES!

Southern Tunisia is the latest part of North Africa to be plagued by locusts. Forgetting political grievances in ~~place~~ <sup>face</sup> of this affliction peasants and soldiers joined forces to fight the pest.

In biblical times hungry men sometimes fell back on locusts and wild honey. Being out of honey people hereabouts eat them cooked. Another ill wind blowing an unexpected bit of good.