

MALENKOV ARRIVES

2) The biggest outwards dent in the Iron Curtain in this direction was made by the London Airport arrival of Mr. Malenkov. The former Soviet Premier has come with a delegation of electrical engineers to inspect power stations and other installations. There to receive him were Mr. Aubrey Jones, Minister of Fuel and Power, Lord Citrine, Chairman, Central Electricity Authority and Mr. Malik, Russian Ambassador in Britain. To a speech of welcome the visitor replied in Russian, hoping his visit would expand trade and foster friendship. Then he was driven to the Russian Embassy, where he is expected to stay during his three weeks in Britain. May the visit prove fruitful in the way Mr. Malenkov hoped.
