

SPORTS HOT AND COLD

To round off the ski jumping season the leading performers of Europe competed at Kulm, Austria. They came from eight countries. But everything was against them; high wind and bad surface conditions. Never have so many falls been seen in a first class meeting.

Harry Glass, of East Germany was favourite, but it just wasn't his lucky day.

Werner Lesser, also East Germany, took off when everybody'd begun to think the jump was impossible. He proved they were wrong and won in great style.

Now for something a bit warmer. The 200 mile race at Daytona Beach. These chaps were no better at keeping up than the skiers.

With an average of 94 mph Californian John Gihson won the 2,000 dollar prize.

You can't imagine a bigger thrill than sailing an ice-yacht. It was great sport at Mazury, a part of Poland won from East Prussia after the war. Fantastic speed and quite a chance of a spill at every turn. ~~*~~ There's just a risk, as Spring approaches, that all that glitters is not ice.

'WORLD SERIES' OF MOTORCYCLING

Daytona Beach resounds to the thunder of roaring cycles -- 67 under way in the famed 200 mile race! Aboard the racing bikes of American and British design the handlebar daredevils streak around the four and one-tenth mile track. Anything can happen.... The machines are Class-C standard production racing motorcycles and are limited as to compression ratio and type of gasoline burned. Hold tight -- here we go again! The most durable and fastest cyclist today is John Gibson, a California ace -- flagged the winner! Averaging better than 94 miles per hour he earns two thousand dollars and motorcycle fame!
