

2

BRITISH ART EXHIBITION

At the Pushkin Museum of Fine Arts our Ambassador, Sir William Hayter, ~~accompanied~~ ^{accompanied} ~~by his wife~~ was present when an Exhibition of British Art was opened by ~~Nikolai~~ ^{Nikolai} ~~Mikhailov, USSR Minister for Culture,~~ ^{in Moscow.}

British painters occupied an important place in this exhibition.

Here's a portrait of the English philosopher, John Locke, by Kneller and this one is a portrait of the Duchess of Beaufort by Gainsborough ^{Sk} "Boats at the Seashore" by Richard Parkes ~~Binn~~ Bonington.

Other paintings and drawings together with ceramics and chinaware were well represented

~~at the exhibition~~ and

It's pleasing to know that the people of Moscow were so interested.

BRITISH ART EXHIBITION

At the Pushkin Museum of Fine Arts our Ambassador, Sir William Hayter, ~~accompanied~~ ~~by~~ was present when an Exhibition of British Art was opened ~~in~~
~~at the Pushkin Museum of Fine Arts~~ in Moscow.

British painters occupied an important place in this exhibition.

Here's a portrait of the English philosopher, John Locke, by Kneller and this one is a portrait of the Duchess of Beaufort by Gainsborough - "Boats at the Seashore" by Richard Parkes ~~Miss~~ Derington.

Other paintings and drawings together with ceramics and chinaware were well represented, ~~in the exhibition~~

It is pleasing to know that the people of Moscow were so interested.

Monday release

BRITISH ART EXHIBITION IN MOSCOW

Moscow....

The Pushkin Museum of Fine Arts.

On March the 22nd an exhibition of British art was opened by Nikolai Mikhailov, USSR Minister for Culture.

On display are works of British art to be found in the Soviet Land.

Sir William Hayter with his wife was present at the opening ceremony.

Portraiture seems to occupy an important place in this exhibition. Here's a portrait of the English philosopher John Locke by Gottfried Kneller.

This one is a portrait of the Duchess Beaufort by Thomas Gainsborough.

"Boats at the Seashore" - by Richard Parkes Bonington.

Drawings , ceramics and chinaware are well represented at the Exhibition.

2-304070

British Art Exhibition

At the Pushkin
Museum of Fine Arts
our Ambassador Sir Tom Hayter accompanied by his wife was present when an Exhibition of British Art was opened by Nikolai Mikhailov USSR Minister for Culture.

British painters occupied an important place in the Exhibition

Here's a portrait of the English philosopher
John Locke by Kneller and this one is a portrait of the Duchess of Braunschweig by Gainsborough.

"Boats at the Beach" by Richard Parkes Bonington.

Other painting & drawing together with ceramics & china ware are well represented at the exhibition.

2-10-40

It is pleasing to know that the people of Moscow were so interested.