

MOSS WINS GRAND PRIX

British racing cars had a triumphant day at Silverstone.

Stirling Moss drove his Vanwall. ^{to victory.} At the wheel of ~~a~~ one

Ferrari was Fangio. Peter Collins drove another; while

2 0 Mike Hawthorn was in a B.R.M. At the wheel of a Connaught was Reg Parnell. The race was 60 laps, approximately 180 miles.

(next) For the first 13 laps Hawthorn's B.R.M. led the field once lapping at 102.3 m.p.h., a ^{track} record. But it was the old story, the B.R.M. broke down. And so did the Ferraris. That left Stirling Moss in the Vanwall in the lead, where he stayed til the end.

25

93

At the amazing average of 100.47 mph Moss was the winner, Connaughts were second and third, a Cooper Bristol fourth. An all British triumph.