

QUEEN MOTHER

The Queen Mother visited the Exhibition staged by the Royal School of Needlework in the State Room ~~of~~ Marlborough House. Tapestry and embroidery of considerable historic interest and artistic merit testify to the skill ~~of women~~ harded down

P In a more leisurely age. The Queen Mother, as patron of the Royal School, is following the example of Queen Mary. ~~Her~~ Her late Majesty, as exhibits here show, was a needlewoman of skill herself.

Later Her Majesty was a very welcome guest at London University Union Presentation Day Ball at Grosvenor ~~H~~ House. She danced first with students' Union President, Jeffrey Thomas. ~~It was the Queen Mother's first attendance at~~ ~~a function of this sort since she became Chancellor of the University.~~ Her Majesty stayed from shortly after nine until nearly midnight and declared that she enjoyed herself very much.
