

ALGERIA: NEW REBEL ATTACKS? FRENCH REINFORCE

To wipe out the insurrection in Algeria is the one ^{aim} ~~task~~ on which all France is united. All possible military strength is being assembled there as the rebellion gathers force.

Men of the 29th French Infantry Division were rushed to the neighbourhood of Bou Zadjar when news came that ^{farmhouses} ~~hamas~~ and other buildings had been burned ^{out} in a night raid. The rebels used petrol-filled bottles, ⁷ In a few hours great damage was done. It was all French-owned property. Two nights later more farm buildings were destroyed. The raiders killed cattle and made off with barrels of wine.

20

64 ~~The~~ Troops, though quickly on the scene, were eluded by most of the rebels, and when these pictures were taken only a few suspected men had been arrested. Most of the European settlers have left the area. It's now the old story, troops against guerrillas, a battle the French are determined to win.