

Soviets release Transmitting Station Berlin

not enclavive
15-01-50

The Soviets gave the transmitting station - situated in the west-sector of Berlin - surprisingly back to the west Berlin magistracy. Till now, the district of the transmitting station was regarded as Soviet-Russian enclave in West Berlin and was watched by Soviet troops. The Soviet Commander of Berlin, Colonel Katsuba, gave the station back to the West Berlin representatives, Senate's Director Dr. Klein (with grey hair) and Senate's Director Dr. Hirschfeld.