

FIREMEN AT OILFIELDS -- 87 Feet

A fire has broken out on one of the Baku oil derricks at sea.
always on the alert.

But the sea firemen

Alarm!!!

The firemen take their places...

Strong jets of water surround the vessel with a water screen.
firemen are coming up closer and closer to the flame.

Under its protection the

Finally the streams reach the centre of the fire.

To extinguish burning oil is not an easy task...even if it was set on fire by the hand of the fireman himself for training purposes, on a training oil derrick...

And so, it was only a practice exercise, but it was very similar to a real fire.
