

BOAC GIRL IS MISS LONDON AIRPORT

13 Airlines using Heath Row each sent a hostess to compete for the title of Miss London Airport. Beauty is not the only qualification for these much-coveted jobs ~~in~~ <sup>in</sup> the air, tact, patience and intelligence are required too. It was a feather in the cap of Britain that first prize ~~was~~ <sup>and the bouquet</sup> presented by Lady D'Albiac went to 22-year-old ~~M~~ Sonia Simpson, of Winchmore Hill. She's on the staff of BOAC. How nice to be one of Sonia's passengers.

BEAUTY CHAMPIONS.....MISS AMERICA

In a setting charged with the electricity of big-time competition for big-time laurels, the finalists hold the stage at Atlantic City. The South sends the beauties who cause the greatest stir in the Miss America finals -- but the rest of the nation is right there too -- with lovely to look at and talented hopefuls, flirting with fame and glory! Soon, the modern "cinderella" will claim the 'magic slipper.....

And here she is! Marian Ann McKnight of South Carolina.

A week before Christmas she'll celebrate her 20th birthday, but Santa Claus arrives early for the five-five beauty. She writes short stories, designs clothes -- Miss America 1957!

COLLEGE QUEEN

A College Queen is being picked too, at this season of back-to-school and "rah-rah". Asbury Park, New Jersey is host for this national competition.

The finalists -- selected 50 per cent for beauty, 50 per cent for brains. The suspense is terrific!

She just can't believe it! Her name is Marilyn M. Meyer, from Texas, where she's a sophomore at Baylor University.

Five feet two, and a football fan, is the National College Queen, certainly the darling of all Texas!
