GLIDING.

Many well-known pilots of the gliding world took part in the sailplane meeting on Camp Hill, Great Hucklow. This is one of the most thrilling of modern-day sports, and its popularity increases year by year.

GERMAN BATTLESHIP.

The work of raising the German fleet scuttled in Scapa Flow goes on. Here is the battleship Kaiserin being towed upside down from her long watery resting place, beneath the Forth Bridge.

BABY SHOW.

Finals of the baby competition in Glasgow. The Competition is too strong for a commentator so I think I'll leave the microphone to my young friends.

DUNOON GAMES.

Scotland at its best and most spectacular is featured at the great Cowal Gathering --- the big event of the day being the march of 1,000 pipers. . . . a sight to stir the blood and set the pulses tingling among Scotsmen all over the world.

MINE DISASTER.

Tragedy reminiscent of Canada's Moose River disaster stalked this little mining camp at Moberly Missouri, where four men were imprisoned 200 feet below the surface. For three days rescuers scooped a tunnel hoping to reach the trapped men. From the gas-filled tomb at last came the four prisoners --- two to hospital to be nursed back to health --- two to be carried to the grave. Tears for the widows, but cheers for Miner McCann who fought to save his comrades' lives during his three terrible days underground.
