BULL FIGHT.

having
Spain/~~has~~ more serious matters on hand, France turns her attention to bull-fighting, but there is a great difference between the two methods. Here the Toreador has no sword and the bull is a cow. In French bull-fighting there is no risk of death --- the only danger a toreador runs is of not being able to explain where he was hit.

DIVING AND HOLM JARRETT.

Manhattan Beach Water Carnival attracted 20,000 spectators and they saw some wonderful diving and swimming. This is a wonderful dive --- no, he's swimming. Eleanor Holm Jarrett was here to give an exhibit of her famous back stroke. Cut out of Uncle Sam's Olympics, she hasn't forgotten how to smile. And now another diving trick --- Either this is slow motion or else he's full of hydrogen.

OLD CROCKS.

The Veteran Car Club held a Rally and they ran to Seer Hill --- test of reliability was the cause and loose teeth were the effect. Engine a bit hot. These cars are fifty-fifty --- fifty-fifty whether they break down or break up. All went well until one ran amok. They held a car rally in Montmartre, too. Here comes the winner --- everything makes a noise except the horn.
