

GOOFY TENNIS.

The exclusive Beverly Hills Club was opened with an exhibition match by Fred Perry and Charlie Chaplin playing Vines and Groucho Marx. And now at last, through Gaumont British News, you have heard Chaplin ~~talk~~ talk. ~~Of course, it was much more difficult to persuade Groucho not to talk.~~ The game was played at terrific pace --- Perry and Vines using forehand and backhand --- Groucho and Charlie using shorthand. You should have heard the gallery of film stars shout with laughter until Groucho produced a lunch basket --- and then you couldn't hear anything --- much.

CALEDONIA.

Following home on the comparatively slow Atlantic liner, our pictures of the Caledonia over New York at the start of her homeward journey --- above Manhattan's towers in a flight that links two nations. And at the same time we have received pictures of America's latest fighting plane --- a veritable flying fortress. Four motors of a thousand horse power each --- a crew of nine and five machine guns --- it has a stern and awesome beauty, this machine designed by men for the destruction of men.

LORD DERBY.

The Earl of Derby presented the Charter of Incorporation to the Charter Mayor, on the occasion of the granting of borough status to Crosby and Waterloo-with-Seaforth. It was a day of brilliant sunshine, and a truly representative gathering was present in its honour.
