

FLORENCE DESMOND WEDDING.

At the beautiful church of St James's Spanish Place, London sightseers had a banquet when Miss Florence Desmond was married. Hundreds of people turned up to give her a cheer, and the star had a welcome that must have made her think of a successful first night. The bridegroom was Mr Charles Hughesden, the well-known airman. A thousand cameras clicked and flashed as the happy pair left for the reception, and even the awning was overcome. At the reception there was the usual business of these occasions and many stars of stage and screen and radio were present. Mr Clive Brook gave the bride away, but he kept a piece of cake.
