

WEMBLEY CHARTER DAY.

Wembley Stadium is normally associated with the Cup Final --- but although the stands were nearly full on this occasion there was no football. This fixture was made for granting to Wembley its Charter as a Municipal Borough. London's Lord Mayor, Sir George Broadbridge, handed over the Charter to the Mayor of Wembley, Councillor Butler.

BEACH FOOTBALL.

What do life-guards do in the winter-time? On Australia's famous Bondi Beach they play football. ~~The stalwarts who spend the summer pulling bathers out of the water, try a winter sport.~~ It must be nice not to have to go into the water. But in other parts of New South Wales there's real winter sport with snow. At any time of the year, in some corner of the world, somebody is always skiing. This is a run for experts only. You're not allowed to tackle it, unless you have a certificate, and the address of a good undertaker.
