

FISH SUBMARINE.

Indiana --- here is a modern hermit who got so tired of the world and its ways that he built himself a one-man submarine. ~~He's able to stay under the water for four hours and a half, avoiding telephone calls, ~~tax-~~ tax-collectors and bathing belles.~~ That's what he thought! So much for the anti-piracy patrol!

DUKE OF KENT.

St Andrews --- at the headquarters of the golfing world, the Duke of Kent played himself in as captain of the Royal and Ancient club. He was partnered by Sir John Simon. Faced by a thousand golfers with glaring eyes, the stoutest heart is apt to quake, and we regret to report that His Royal Highness duffed his shot. But the ~~tradition~~ tradition was carried out --- a caddie collected the ball and returned it to the royal captain, receiving a sovereign, and a handshake.

PETER KANE.

Glasgow --- at Shawfield Park on October 13th, Peter Kane fights for the flyweight championship of the world, and here he is in training. Kane's opponent is Benny Lynch --- and Benny is also getting into condition. ~~xxxxxx~~ He's playing flyweight tennis.

HIGHLAND GAMES.

London --- the Highland Games at Ranelagh., Instead of the ~~rugged~~ rugged surroundings of Braemar and Duncoon, they're tossing the caber ~~xxxx~~ in the playgrounds of society. The show was in aid of the Scottish Boy Scouts.
