

LOGGING.

The tree toppers of Washington have recently been on strike, but now they're back at work and the season for the North west lumberjacks is under way. The giants of the forest are falling to the onward march of man's necessity --- and it's easy to see why a lumberjack has to be tough. Seven billion feet a year they send down to the cities --- riding the ^{world's} most dangerous and ~~the~~ most spectacular transport system. ~~in the world~~

CHINA --- FALL OF SHANGHAI (Contd.)

~~Take~~ rejoices!

And to Japanese rejoice.

Outside, they are left to meet what fate they may.
For some, death brings to peace
that life denied them.
