

FOOTBALL.

Maurice Chevalier kicked off at a football match under the sunny skies of ~~China~~ Cannes. The game was between Sochaux, the French champions --- and a local eleven. Sochaux only won by one goal to nil, ~~hence~~ the famous smile. as good a season as any other for

In n<sup>w</sup> York the basketball season ~~has opened~~. The game is between Illinois University and St John's of Brooklyn. This game in Britain is not very populay but when you see two crack teams like this it's a game worth watching. Illinois won by 60 ~~points~~ to 45 --- ~~and if you think that's~~ it sounds like high scoring, <sup>but</sup> here's how it's done.

BATHING BELLES.

Down in Florida there's a parade of beach fashions. There's nothing new in that --- there ~~always~~ is. And it's so warm they even take their overcoats off. But now we're going to give you the real truth. This year it's been cold and the belles are on strike for higher temperatures. They've even had to appeal to th the Chamber of Commerce. Lack of sun in Florida is raining the local business. How can a place attract millionaires if the bathing belles all wear hot water bottles? It's cheaper for them to stop at home and look at the wife in bedsocks.
