Athens, with its background of ~~a~~ ancient tradition, became again a city of romance and pageantry when Prince Paul was married to Princess Frederika of Hanover, daughter of the Duke and Duchess of Brunswick. Clergy of the Orthodox Church entered the Cathedral to conduct the service while the bride arrived with her father, ~~the bridegroom's brother,~~ King George of Greece, and the Duke and Duchess of Kent were ~~present~~ present. ~~The service over,~~ the Crown Prince led his bride --- now to be known as Princess Margarita --- down to the golden carriage drawn by white horses. Start up Greek weather was unkind to the Crown Prince and Princess --- it rained incessantly, but ~~the~~ crowds standing ten-deep lined the route to the Palace. Great Britain sends a special message of good wishes to the bride, for she is a great great granddaughter of Queen Victoria. The reception at the Palace was attended by King George, and our pictures also show intimate glimpses of the Duke and Duchess of Kent. Another European Prince who was present played a part in the ceremony as one of the three best men --- Prince Michael of Rumania. More than fifty princes of royal blood came to do honour to ~~the Greek~~ them ~~Crown Prince and his Princess~~.
