

The Cambria brought from Ireland to England Mr De Valera and his Ministers for Commerce, Finance and Agriculture. The purpose of the visit was a consultation with Mr Neville Chamberlain --- topics under discussion including British and Free State Defence, and an united Ireland to include Ulster. Tremendous crowds awaited them at Euston, and our cameramen sought an exclusive interview at the ~~Pt~~ Piccadilly Hotel. ~~But~~ The Prime Minister ~~wasn't~~<sup>he</sup> wouldn't talk, reserving his remarks for the British Prime Minister.

DOG SHOW.

Something like 700 entries for the Olympia Championship. And they were all terriers --- but terriers have an infinite variety and never fail to please. This one wanted to sit down, partly because he had booked a ring~~side~~ seat for the big fight and partly because he just wanted to sit down. New York had a poultry show attended by all the most beautiful birds. Even here there was a bit of a fight, but luckily it was nothing to shout about.
