

AUSTRALIA'S 150th ANNIVERSARY .

Celebrations of Australia's 150th birthday under the Union Jack continue --- and their rejoicings take on a diversity of forms. In Centennial Park ~~the Gov. Gen. taking the salute~~ a mass parade of soldiers, sailors, marines, aeroplanes and tanks ~~the General taking the salute~~. By night the cities are alive with twinkling lights, while firework displays split the purple sky with silver. Another day dawns for Sydney to celebrate with a regatta --- described by our Australian commentator.

PRINCE NICHOLAS FUNERAL.

Visiting members of Royal Families in Athens included the Duke and Duchess of Kent at the funeral of Prince Nicholas her father. King George of Greece, nephew of Prince Nicholas, was also there to pay a last tribute. The crack troops of Greece, the quaintly-uniformed Evzones, escorted the coffin through the streets from the Cathedral to the Tomb.
