

VILLA v CHARLTON.

Over sixty thousand people got the afternoon off to see this replay. Charlton came out first on the ground at Villa Park --- and Aston Villa followed, once again clad in pure white.

Charlton faced the wind at the kick off but kept on the attack. It was a game full of thrills from beginning to end --- each team chasing that coveted F.A.Cup. Charlton the visitors were the first to score. But Villa equalised, and this replay was drawn again --- 2 - all, after extra time.

CAMBRIDGE LENT BUMPING RACES.

Cambridge University on the Cam --- half on the river and half on the bank, for the annual race to become head of the river. Seventy-five crews took part. It's not so important as the Boat Race on the Thames, but it's much more picturesque. It's perfectly sweet!
~~Yes, I think it's sweet!~~
They call them bumping races because the idea is for one crew to bump the crew in front. Hey, not so rough!
