SANTA ANITA DERBY.

Fifty-two thousand spectators witnessed the Santa Anita Derby --- among them some famous film stars of yesterday and today. Constance Talmadge was there with Joe Schenck --- Clark Gabel was there and so was Carole Lombard and as they're saif to be that way we'll put them together. Now for the race; there's a purse of fifty thousand dollars; there's a big field --- there's Adolphe Menjou and there's Barbara Stanwyck. The excitement is terrific as they round the bend into the stretch, and talking of a stretch there's Joe E. Brown with Pat O'Brien. Now for the finish of the race. Appropriately enough the winner was a horse called Stagehand who romped home just in time to enable us to get a ravishing smile from Marlene --- I love a good horse race!
