

YACHTING.

437

Los Angeles --- 200 yachts of 22 classes took part in the Midwinter Regatta. With a stiff sailing breeze and sunlight on the leaping waters, our roving cameraman makes of them an artistic picture and ignores the winner. But that doesn't matter. You can never tell who won a yacht race anyway.

MARGARET LOCKWOOD.

London --- the charming young film star Margaret Lockwood ~~and her presentation~~ threw in the puck at an exhibition match at Earl's Court. After the ice hockey there was an exhibition of trick skating which included a barrel jump of a new kind. And now the Viennese champions. At a time like this a girl certainly hopes a man knows when to stop.

GOLDEN GLOVES.

New York --- semi-finals of the Golden Gloves, America's great amateur boxing carnival ~~is~~ Two rings are working overtime and there are so many knock-outs the bumps sound like a tap-dance. And these amateurs can go down too, but they haven't so far to fall. Even when they're quite young --- hey, this is ridiculous! ~~Little man, you've had a dizzy day.~~
