

ENGLAND v SCOTLAND.

441

at

They couldn't have got a bigger crowd ~~into~~ Twickenham if they'd been fighting another Bannockburn --- 70,000 spectators saw His Majesty the King shake hands first with Scotland, then with the English team. And so began the battle in the sunshine, for the Calcutta Cup. First came a try for Scotland --- a dash through sent Renwick over the line. Enthusiasm ran at fever pitch in a fine game. When the players got collared round the neck, even the spectators felt it. Now two penalties for England put the men in white ahead --- Parker scored both times. But soon after that Renwick for Scotland equalised with another try. Now another Scottish try --- this time Dick went over with an Olympic run. Then it was England's turn --- and Unwin ^{scored a try} ~~went over~~ ~~in~~ wide out in the corner --- score at half time --- England 9 --- Scotland 12.

So the position in the second half was full of interest, but our Scottish queen brought good luck to Scotland. England scored through another penalty, but after that Scotland were all-~~the~~ conquering. Watch them race over the line for another try as they win by 21 points to 16.

218
 190
 170
 130
 180
 110