

QUEEN MARY ARRIVALS.

444

The world's most famous liner makes a majestic picture as she comes into Southampton, ~~from the United States. And on board she carries even more than her usual complement of famous men and women.~~ with her famous passengers The Sultan of Muscat --- a country in the Persian Gulf --- was recently in Washington on a state visit. He has now come to Britain as a guest of the Government, but he arrived in European clothes. On the second day after his arrival the Sultan called on His Majesty the King at Buckingham Palace. Then there is Helen Jacobs, which seems to indicate that Wimbledon days are not far away. ~~She looks very stern and determined, but then she always does.~~ David Hearst, son of the American newspaper magnate, is here with his young bride, formerly Miss Hope Chandler. Then there are the three sisters of King Zog of Albania --- three charming princesses with very difficult names ~~world, but a bride is always that.~~ Welcome to Douglas Fairbanks and with him is the ever-youthful Fanny Ward, mother of the tragic Lady Plunket. With her now is Mrs Douglas Fairbanks,
