

HORE-BELISHA.

Our overhead camera takes a grand view of the Royal Ordnance Factory at Nottingham --- British Armament is for defence, and in this huge ~~xx~~ works ~~at Nottingham~~ implements of defence are being turned out at full speed. Mr Hore Belisha, Secretary of State for War, was on a visit here --- paying particular attention to line upon line of 3.7 anti-aircraft guns in the Assembly Shops. Mr Hore Belisha did not speak for our microphone, but his cheery smile said all that was necessary.

Here's another army story in the news --- the new troopship Etrick, leaving Southampton on her maiden voyage. Men of the 2nd Battalion King's Shropshire Light Infantry were on their way to the West Indies --- taking with them their wives and families in every modern comfort.

Troopship --- foreign service --- she makes a <sup>wonderful</sup> ~~grand~~ picture as she moves out majestically to sea to the tune of Auld Lang Syne. Nor is departure saddened with heartache, now that the missus and the kids go too.
