U.S.S. NORTH CAROLINA ON TRIAL.

Out on the high seas Uncle Sam's magnificent new Man o' War the North Carolina is about to undergo her gunnery trials. Up to now she has never fired her guns.

Her gallant commander gives the orders for the try-out to begin,---

A warship's greatest test is to see how she takes it when all her guns are fired at once.

~~The approach of war planes heralds a mock battle. Stand by for a charge from her battery of 5-inch guns. But that's not all -- wait till the North Carolina hands out a broadside from her main battery of 16 inch monsters.~~ See planes take off before the firing on observation duty.

At night, all the guns together give a ~~pyrotechnic~~ firework display --- the greatest of all salvos.
