Memory of the Battle of Britain

15th September 53

Each September brings back proud memories of Britain's finest hour. ~~And throughout this fine land of ours, famous battles in our island history are~~

~~Commemorated by~~ - Thirteen years afterwards - the sacrifice of the "Immortal Few" ¹⁵ ~~is~~ Commemorated by the Battle of Britain Flypast.

Led by a lone Spitfire and Hurricane (the planes in which they flew to ^{battle} glory and so often never returned) over 250 jet aircraft pass in salute over HISTORIC LONDON LANDMARKS SOUND

So the Jet Age roars out its tribute - saluting those pilots who counted not the cost - as they winged their way to glory in defence of all they held dear.
