Front-page news throughout Europe was the dramatic disappearance of Mrs Maclean, wife of the British diplomat who vanished in similar circumstances, two years ago. After leaving her car in a Lausanne garage - Mrs Maclean and her children were last seen leaving Switzerland by train. For the past year, Mrs Maclean has lived in her Mother's flat, in Geneva, hoping perhaps, that in this way, she would get some news of her husband. Nearby, is the School which was attended by two of her children.

Fearing at first that the family had been kidnapped - the Swiss Police made an inquiry and pronounced that a telegram, supposed to have been sent by Mrs Maclean to her Mother, was a fake.

It is now known that the family caught a train bound for Vienna, ~~the~~
~~at the~~ - and there, the trail ends.....
