Memorial Parade to the Fallen

17th Nov. 53

From all parts of Britain, members of the Jewish Ex-Service Organisation assembled on Horse Guards Parade, London, to honour anew, their fallen comrades of two World Wars.

And Field-Marshal Lord Alexander, the Minister of Defence, joined the huge parade in a Solemn Service of Remembrance.

The Standards were dipped in homage, and a solemn pledge renewed <sup>1921</sup> in the immortal words of the poet, Laurence Binyon / SOUND.

Then came a tribute to the proud, be-medalled veterans of many campaigns - as Lord Alexander, the Inspecting Officer, reviewed their ranks /.

~~And then~~ <sup>took the Field-Marshal</sup> took the Salute as the <sup>great</sup> Company marched past - on their way to lay wreaths on the National Shrine, in Whitehall. /

A day of pilgrimage - dedicated to those who, by their sacrifice, will be remembered forever, as "Our Glorious Dead" /

~~And~~ Throughout the world, the day was given over to Remembrance. King Paul of Greece and his Queen <sup>(WHILE VISITING AMERICA)</sup> paid homage at San Francisco's Shrine of the Unknown Soldier. /

In Paris, too, at the Arc de Triomphe, President Auriol placed a personal tribute to his Country's Fallen. <sup>THE PRESIDENT</sup> And then, re-kindled the "Eternal Flame" which burns <sup>undimmed through</sup> ~~ever-brighter~~ with the passing years. /
