Duke and Duchess of Windsor--

London-- and arriving from Paris for a short stay-- the Duke and Duchess of Windsor pay their first visit, together to Britain, since 1949. Soon, the Duchess left by car for a Christmas shopping expedition, while the Duke was, no doubt, happy to renew old friendships in the Capital.

Prince Bernhard--

~~xxxxxxxx~~

Ethiopia-- where Prince Bernhard of the Netherlands was received by the Emperor Haile Selassie and the Empress, <sup>during his recent visit.</sup> ~~when visiting the country that was once Abyssinia.~~

After lunching with the Imperial Family, the Prince laid a wreath on the memorial (erected in 1941)- to the honour of those who fell in the liberation of this East African Empire. (A)

At a later ceremony, the Emperor decorated Prince Bernhard with one of the highest Orders Ethiopia can offer-- the Grand Cross and Star of Salome.

Eisenhower--

America-- where President and Mrs Eisenhower, ~~on~~ on holiday in Georgia, <sup>seven-piece</sup> received a/silver service for the family golfing hide-out. And the local children, too, had a present ready-- a Tam o'Shanter-- perhaps to bring the President a stroke of luck on the green!
