

Barbecue - Texas Near London

9th March 54

Deep in the heart of ~~London~~, the Bar-B-Q Ranch is at home to Texans and their friends. And that don't ~~mean~~ ^{include} shooting irons, ~~with~~ ^{who} Cowboy! But it does include Pearly folk - guests ~~that~~ ^{who} left the guard at this ~~air~~ U.S. Air Force base sorely puzzled.

The Barbecue hosts were the Anglo-Texan Society, and stage-coaches ran from London, to the former film-studios, with some of the 1500 guests.

"So C'mon, folks, join us in the ranch-house" ~~S~~

A sight for rationed eyes - roasting on the barbecue - four prize steers donated by the Houston Fat Stock Show of Texas ~~with xxxxxxxxxx~~

During this celebration of Texas Independence Day, the U.S. Ambassador, Mr Aldrich, presented the Charter and the flag of the Lone Star State to the Anglo-Texan Society.

After the feasting - ~~and~~ another flavour of the West - the Happy Hoe-Down.
