

BENEATH

Arundel... ~~Under~~ the shadow of the famous Castle, Queen Elizabeth had come the Queen Mother ~~xxx~~ to present new colours to the 1st Battalion the Royal Sussex Regiment.

But first- an inspection, when the Queen Mother was accompanied by the Duke of Norfolk, Lord-Lieutenant of Sussex- and <sup>from the Netherlands</sup> Brigadier-General ~~xxx~~. Pahud de Mortagnes ~~of the Dutch Queen's Household~~, representing Queen Juliana, who is Colonel-in-Chief of the Regiment.

~~Sad moment as the old Colours are trooped, ~~xxxx~~ and then in ~~xxxx~~ for the last time.~~

The Old Colours, which are those of the 38th Foot Regiment, ~~xxx~~ were trooped for the last time, and then marched off parade- They will be laid up in the King's Chapel in Gibraltar <sup>cul</sup>

Then the presentation of the new Colours, which were ~~xxxx~~ with a General Salute, ~~xxxx~~ of the Battalion.

~~XXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXX~~ The March-Past-- and later

LATER

In addressing the Parade- the Queen Mother <sup>was to recall</sup> ~~xxxx~~ that for 250 years, men had gone forth from the chalk hills of Sussex in the service of their Sovereign. "Here to-day", said Her Majesty, "We remember them with honour!"

the Sussex

So the new Colours are borne proudly by the Battalion marches past. ~~the~~ and the men of Sussex will not forget this colourful day, when ~~the~~ people

Arundel was favoured by the presence of a much-loved Royal Lady.

when their fighting men

with honour and ~~and~~ by a much-loved Royal Lady.
