 "We ~~shall~~ Remember Them" - a solemn pledge that was honoured anew throughout Britain and the Commonwealth.

At the Cenotaph, the Prime Minister led the Parliamentary tribute to the fallen of Two World Wars. /

And leading the homage of her peoples in many lands, Her Majesty the Queen remembered, too, a personal grief - as she joined the Nation in silent re-Dedication. /

Sound (Last Post)

~~the whole country has been linked by a common bond.~~ The Queen, sharing the Nation's loss with her people, lays a wreath of Flanders Poppies. /

The Duke of Edinburgh pays tribute to comrades-in-arms who did not return. A day of Autumn remembrance - yet ever-green will be the memory of their sacrifice. /

After the service, Old Comrades march past to the familiar strains that ~~have~~ coloured two world wars with their message; <sup>of hope</sup> ~~of hope and peace...~~ <sup>for a spirit</sup>

that will never die ~~for the future...~~

a hope that our country was.
