

In the blaze of arc lamps and soccer world headlines, Wolverhampton Wanderers escort the Spartak Club on to the field - amid the cheers of sixty-thousand fans.

In the centre circle - Skipper Billy Wright wins the toss....and the Moscow ~~side~~ side (full of confidence after their victory over Arsenal) sets the ball rolling... Spartak playing in <sup>WHITE</sup> black shorts.

And the Russians are soon showing their quality. Skipper Simonian lobs the ball in. Williams is beaten; but Shorthouse dashes in - to save the day.

<sup>And that</sup> early escape ~~that~~ sends the Football League champions surging into non-stop attacks, <sup>gaining</sup> with a series of corners. But Piraeu <sup>in goal</sup> deals confidently with every finishing effort. ~~(Spartak)~~

Spartak again - a determined attack and a fine shot that has Williams reaching high - to save... /

No score at half-time - then - Shorthouse places a free-kick in the area. And Wilshaw is there <sup>to hit a goal</sup> to force it home. /

Wolves one-up. <sup>but</sup> still anybody's game...until that amazing five-minute goal-burst, led by Johnny Hancocks. <sup>By</sup> ~~with~~ sheer determination he beats two defenders...and <sup>goal No 2!</sup> it's a goal. /

The Russian defence is tottering - demoralised by those super-fit forwards and wee Johnny Hancocks, the "happy wanderer" finding the open spaces and popping in goal number four... / ~~Full credit to Spartak - a disciplined team of sportsmen. a great comeback for British football. Wonderful Wolves! Worthy champions!~~

Amid praise for Spartak - we salute wonderful Wolves and their four-goal tonic for British football.
