

2779

Jacque Fath funeral

Paris: The City of Fashion mourns the death of Jacques Fath, the brilliant designer, and many model-s and midinettes followed the funeral procession to the Church of St. Pierre de Chaillot.

Leading the mourners ~~was Mrs. Genevieve Fath~~ <sup>were</sup> the designer's ~~widow~~ <sup>widow</sup> and former model, and her eleven year-old son, Philippe.

The Jacques Fath creations ~~was~~ <sup>ARE</sup> worn by fashion leaders everywhere, and ~~the~~ <sup>many</sup> wreaths were, no doubt, their tribute to his genius.

Algeria

North Africa: More pictures from Algeria where French troops are "on the alert" following the recent outbreaks <sup>by bands of armed terrorists</sup> ~~of terrorism, that has been described as an armed insurrection.~~

In the trouble areas - mobile patrols are carrying out surprise raids - searching suspects and their houses for arms and ammunition.

Eisenhower Memorial

Texas: Friends and neighbours turned out in force when President Eisenhower returned to his home-town, ~~at~~ Abilene, to open the Eisenhower Memorial Museum. Standing near the President's boyhood home, the Museum contains over 2,000 ~~xxxxxxx~~ exhibits. The many snapshots include a picture of Mrs Eisenhower and <sup>her</sup> son, John. Now a new one will be added - a family group on opening day. DOWN

Berlin fight

Berlin: In this ten-round fight, Yvon Durelle of Canada proved an elusive target for Gerhard Hecht, the European light-heavyweight titleholder, until the champion draped him over the ropes.

~~Hecht~~, The Canadian boy ~~retaliated~~ retaliated by measuring Hecht on the canvas...

From then on - the German champion ~~slowly~~ slowly got on top - and though some of <sup>Durelle's</sup> ~~the Canadian's~~ blows seemed a trifle low, ...Hecht had enough steam left to coast home - a narrow points winner.