

London: The rustle of Spring was heard at Carlton House Terrace, when Queen Elizabeth the Queen Mother and Princess Margaret watched a display of Spring Fashions - given by London's "Top Twelve" Designers.

<sup>THIS WAS</sup> an all-British fabrics show. Many of the creations had been specially made for the occasion - and most of them will <sup>grace</sup> ~~be~~ shop windows in the New Year.

~~Following the Royal~~
 Another engagement took the Queen Mother to St. Mary's Hospital Medical School, Paddington, where she presented medals to students for outstanding work during the past year.

Her Majesty, as the Hospital's President, placed into the Foundation Stone of the new Library Extension - a stop-watch showing the exact time of Roger Bannister's four-minute mile...

Roger Bannister, like Sir Alexander Fleming before him, was a student here. And the famous discoverer of Penicillin gave Her Majesty a culture-plate used during his research-work at the Hospital.

These, with other symbols, will be handed down to future generations, as the achievements of St. Mary's students.

Meanwhile, the Duke of Edinburgh, in the uniform of a Colonel-in-Chief of the Welsh Guards, <sup>REVIEWED THE GUARD OF HONOUR BEFORE ENTERING</sup> ~~entered~~ the City Hall to receive the Honorary Freedom of Cardiff.

During his Speech of Appreciation, the Duke thanked Cardiff for its hospitality which <sup>AS HE RIGHTLY</sup> ~~he~~ said, ~~was~~ was always to be found in the hills and valleys of Wales.
