

ENGLAND WIN THE ASHES.

GB 2200

2/2/55.

F/Rank

Hutton and Edrich were the opening pair in that second innings at Adelaide, that gave the Ashes to England under the captaincy of Len Hutton for the second time; recalling the 1953 triumph at home, when England won the Test rubber against Australia for the first time for twenty years. ~~Now - back to Australia's~~

1955

Cowdrey's great knock of 79 in the first innings, laid the foundation stone of victory; and Denis Compton in the second innings, in a great stand with Trevor Bailey, set the seal on England's ~~new~~ ^{by 5 wickets} triumph. It was wicket-keeper Godfrey Evans who scored the winning hit.

So --- ~~under the Union Jack~~ --- England's cricket fans everywhere are happy again: ~~well done!~~

Well done!

win by 5 wickets.
