

Scotland V Wales

Murrayfield: The end of a long, long road for Scottish Rugby, and proud were the loyal supporters who shared a great triumph.

The ~~only~~ ^{Rugby} shock of the season began with Scotland (in the darker jerseys) kicking off - against a Welsh fifteen full of confidence after their victory over England.

Right from the start - Wales looked set ^{To win.} for ~~victory~~ After six minutes - they went ahead. Brewer gathered a kick by Cliff Morgan and went over for a try ~~Wales three points up.~~

Wales still held that slender lead at half-time; but then came a flash of genius that roused Scotland to a fighting recovery. Watch this try by new cap Arthur Smith. ^{TO COVER THE SCORES}

Already, there was a new enthusiasm on the terraces, Scotland were ~~right~~ fighting - and following a set scrum - Docherty dropped a goal.

~~And~~ shortly after - Wales were penalised and Elgie made no mistake with the kick. Scotland 9 - Wales 3.

Now cheers for Wales, as finding themselves in danger of defeat, - they stage a traditional fighting rally. A fine handling movement sends Brewer over for a try. ^{REES STEPHENS TAKES THE KICK AND ADDS THE} ~~Scotland 9 Wales 8. GOAL POINTS.~~

But Scotland had found themselves, Victory was ~~their~~ theirs as Nichol touches down - an opportunist try.

And Elgie's kick makes the game safe. ^{taken} Scotland 14 - Wales 8.

After four years of defeat - Scotland had ~~hit~~ ^{taken} the high road, and Murrayfield proudly belongs to their loyal supporters.
