

London: Leaving her wintry shell, the sportsgirl gives promise of warmer days ahead - wearing this three-piece sun-suit in white cotton drill.

Also featured in a collection by Teddy Tinling, the famous sports designer, is "High Summer" - a charming holiday-outfit in sharkskin.

But preparing for the worst - "In the mink" - (a tunic with fur-trimmed bloomers) will keep you warm on chilly beach days. (LATE CUE)

It seems, too, that high fashion will invade the court - the "H" line tennis dress.

Here comes "Waikiki" - a beach-suit in Swiss woven cotton-pique - with a touch of South Sea Island magic. 2

A glamorous outfit for that Mediterranean cruise - a two-piece in striped cotton - outlined with sequins.

Finally - a modern miss with Victorian lines. ~~Just before the New Year this combination is called "Fantasia"~~

Featuring more conventional lines is this 1955 Spring and Summer collection by Irene Gilbert - the talented Dublin ~~Couturier~~ Couturier.

Here's a ~~black~~ suit in hand-woven Avoca Tweed - dyed to the shade of Hydrangea petals.

Summer enchantment! An evening gown in organdie, printed with wood violets. The bodice is massed with white silk violets. 1

~~For the first time in London -~~ A black and white marble print satin dress with a new-style hip-line sash. HIGHLIGHTS OF A FIRST AN IRISH COLLECTION SEEN IN LONDON

COLLECTION SEEN FOR THE FIRST TIME IN LONDON. - CUE

And the highlights of the collection are: a black and white marble print satin dress with a new-style hip-line sash.

And the highlights of the collection are: a black and white marble print satin dress with a new-style hip-line sash.

And the highlights of the collection are: a black and white marble print satin dress with a new-style hip-line sash.