

Royal Tour-

Royal Visitor in Jamaica-

March 1st. '55.

Royal encouragement
Jamaica---~~for~~ for agriculture and industry as

Princess Margaret planted a commemorative tree in the grounds of Denbigh Agricultural College, and visited a £30 million aluminium plant near Mandeville, where she was presented with a miniature hour-glass.

A gala occasion was the ball at the new University College, where Princess Alice, Countess of Athlone- the first Chancellor- received the Royal guest.

The most thrilling moment of the five-day tour found the Princess on a 30-ft raft in calm waters- bound for the Rio Grande Rapids- with ~~the~~

And with the "Britannia" ~~waiting~~ waiting at ~~Port Antonio~~ Port Antonio to sail northwards to the Bahamas, where Her Royal Highness was ~~serenaded~~ serenaded by yet another haunting calypso, ~~made~~ ^{of} A last memory of Jamaica- the island of Sugar and Song.

Princess Margaret's GREAT AUNT

Great Aunt