

At St. Andrew's - (58,000 fans (Birmingham's biggest post-war crowd) watched the home side kick off against Manchester City, in a Sixth Round Battle for a place in the semi-finals. Birmingham (looking unfamiliar in white shirts) are attacking.

But soon, the deep-laid schemes of Don Revie brought the Manchester side storming back into the game. / a ~~fine~~ header is well taken by goalkeeper Merrick.

The play sweeps back to the other end - where ~~former German prisoners of war~~

~~was~~ goalkeeper Bert Trautman is in top form.

Well into the second half - "The Blues" launching fierce attacks on the Manchester goal, though somehow, lacking the craft to crack open a well-drilled defence.

~~The Manchester side are attacking with a certain~~

Then, during a final Manchester ~~attack~~ raid - Clarke's ~~free~~-kick is deflected past Gil Merrick / Manchester City had reached their seventh semi-final.

A record crowd at Meadow Lane: a tribute to York City ~~who are~~ still carrying the Wembley banner for the Third Division.

Notts County (in the stripes) kicked off, ~~in this Sixth Round battle~~ - and the proud conquerors of Chelsea, were, no doubt, hoping to pension off the giantkillers.

An early shock for County fans • Bottom fires the ball home - but the goal is disallowed.

The tie made cup history, for Notts County (the oldest League Club) were playing York (one of the youngest) for the first time.

Still attacking, ~~the~~ <sup>YORK</sup> "giantkillers" were proving that their victories over Blackpool and Spurs ~~was~~ <sup>were</sup> no fairytale.

Once, Lagerton got the ball in the net for County, but, he too, was given off-side...

Then, with twelve minutes to go, a free-kick by Hughes, rebounded to Bottom - and it was "thumbs up" for York.

A one-nothing victory, and fans everywhere join that record crowd in wishing "good luck" to York - for their first semi-final.
