

News flashes (continued)

One-Man Helicopter

America: A revolutionary one-man helicopter makes its debut, near New York, as ~~the~~ designer, ^{LEWIS} ~~Louis~~ McCarty takes off on a test flight.

Known as the Heli-Vector - it really does fly ~~on its own~~

~~at a rate of 100 mph and is designed for outdoor use.~~

The entire machine weighs only 180 pounds, and can land on water, too.
The American Armed Forces are interested in this latest flying gadget, which may soon be used for short distance rescue work.