

Eastbourne welcomes a Royal Visitor - the Duke of Edinburgh, who flew in Conference
by helicopter, to attend the Silver Jubilee/ of the R.A.F. Association - of which he is the President.

On arrival, Prince Philip was welcomed by the Mayor of Eastbourne and the Duke of Norfolk.

The Silver Jubilee Conference was held at the Winter Gardens - and branch members from all parts of the country heard the Duke make the inaugural address. SOUND.

The following morning, the Duke unveiled a plaque at the Headquarters of the Eastbourne branch of the Association.

His Royal Highness also attended a Memorial Service - paying tribute to men of the R.A.F. who made the Supreme Sacrifice.

Later, on the seafront - the President took the salute <sup>at the March past of</sup> members of this great organisation (that serves so well - the interests of airmen past and present) ~~at the March past.~~
