Garden Party

Buckingham Palace: When the Queen GAVE HER [redacted] first garden party of the summer, SHE WAS [redacted] accompanied by other members of the Royal Family - as they moved informally amongst their many guests.

Those whom the Queen delighted to honour included members of Church and State, besides many distinguished visitors from overseas. PRINCESS MARGT SPOKE WITH MANY OF THE VISITORS, AND QUEEN ELIZABETH THE QUEEN MOTHER USED A PARASOL IN THE HOT SUNSHINE

Airmen

South Korea: Refugees from the Communist regime in the North, two pilots flew this Russian-built Yak fighter to Seoul - in a dramatic escape to freedom.

In the South Korean capital - a heart-warming reception awaited the two flyers. And their happiness was complete when they were re-united with relatives who had made the long trek South, during the fighting on the Peninsula.

Tour de France

France: The heat is on - in more ways than one - [redacted] in the two thousand seven hundred mile "Tour de France" - as top European riders burn up the road in the toughest of all cycle marathons.

Already the gruelling pace takes its toll of the competitors - but here, an eager newcomer joins the chase.

Improvised shower-baths are taken en route - and refreshments, too, for those wheels must keep turning.

Coming into Metz now - and Willy Kemp of Luxembourg wins the fourth stage - and the rest of that cold shower.

Mt. Etna erupts

Sicily: After eight years of inactivity, Mount Etna (Europe's highest volcano) is in eruption....hurling molten lava and rocks over two thousan feet into the air.

Though approximately thirty-five explosions occur every minute, there is no immediate danger, as the deadly flow continues to fall back [redacted] into the main crater - which is a mile wide...
