Royal Visit to Aberdeen --

Aug I5th. '55.

The three-day sea trip round the North of Scotland in the Royal Yacht "Britannia", ended at Aberdeen, where the Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh were warmly greeted by the Lord Provost, Mr George Stephen. The Royal children eagerly watched the proceedings from the Britannia's deck- in the care of their aunt, Princess Margaret, wheni who is shortly celebrating her 25th birthday.

The Queen inspected a Territorial Guard of Honour, provided by 275
Highland Field Regiment, Royal Artillery.

Shortly agter their parents had left the yacht, Prince Charles and Princess Anne, accompanied by Princess Margaret, and other members of the Royal Family, disembarked and left for Balmoral.

During inmix tour of the famous "Granite City", ihm a visit was made to the Royal Hospital for Sick Children, special feature of white which was the specious and arry unit devoted to mothers and their
