The scene in Morocco-

Aug 26th. '55.

Fires near the airbase at Khouribga-(centre of the world's most important ~~mineral~~ sulphate deposits) ^{These} are the grim aftermath of unprecedented riots and massacre of Europeans by rebel terrorists, following the 2nd anniversary of the Sultan's deposition.

~~And there's~~ ^{is} No quarter given to the gunmen, as ~~the~~ ^{troops} open fire ~~on~~

Nomads tents are searched as likely places for rebel hide-outs. ~~Soon~~ the taking tally of prisoners ~~was~~ ^{was rising} though the order was given- "No Prisoners".

Meanwhile- in Casablanca- the capital- the terrified inhabitants are quickly herded together out of harm's way. ~~Women and children~~ ^{ARE} cared for at a civil control point. Some still clutch firearms.

At Aix-les-Bains, conversations opened between the centenarian Grand Vizier of Morocco, ~~and~~ ^{with} his son and the French Government's ~~delegation,~~

~~Let's hope~~ ^{that} wise counsels will prevail to ~~bring about~~ a satisfactory ~~reconciliation.~~
